The Passage

Every Saturday, Leo helped his dad at the market stall, selling fruit and vegetables to people passing by. He liked weighing the apples on the big metal scales and shouting out the prices, just like his dad did. Today was extra busy because of the summer fair happening nearby, and by lunchtime, they had almost sold out of strawberries. Leo's dad smiled and said it was their best Saturday all year.

Questions

1. What does Leo do to help his dad every Saturday?

2. Find and copy one job that Leo enjoys doing at the stall.

3. Why was today extra busy?

4. What had almost sold out by lunchtime?

5. Why do you think Leo's dad was smiling at the end of the passage?
