Adverbials

These questions practise adverbials and fronted adverbials - words and phrases that tell you when, where, how or how often.

Name: _____ Date: _____

Section A: What Does It Tell Us?

1. Underline the adverbial and say what it tells you (when, where, how, how often): Every Saturday, we visit Gran.

2. Find two adverbials and say what each tells you: The fox crept silently across the field.

3. Add the missing comma: As quick as a flash the cat jumped.

4. Rewrite with the adverbial of place at the front: The treasure was hidden under the old oak tree.

5. Is "in the morning" an adverb or an adverbial? Explain.

Section B: Write Fronted Adverbials

1. Write a sentence starting with a fronted adverbial of time.

2. Write a sentence starting with a fronted adverbial of place.

3. Write a sentence starting with a fronted adverbial of how (manner).

4. Write a sentence starting with a fronted adverbial of how often.

5. Improve with two adverbials: The knight rode.
